ELDER JOSEPH BALLOU.

HIS 62D BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED IN FEAST AND VERSE.

One of the most delightful surprise parties that has been given in our neighborhood for a long time was that at Elder Joseph Ballou's Friday. It was Mr. Ballou's 62d birthday and his children determined to make it a memorable one for him. Several days before, invitations were issued to a few of his church friends to be present, but not to mention it to him in meantime. The program was carried out to the letter and when he returned from town about half past 12 o'clock, he found himself in the presence of quite a little crowd of gentlemen friends. While awaiting his arrival, Elder J. T. Sharrard was chosen poet for the occasion and succeeded in dashing off the following lines commemorative of the occasion, which were read at the dinner table and ordered printed by a unanimous vote. The following gentlemen were present: Messrs. J. S. Hoeker, W. M. Bright, J. H. Bright, J. W. Hayden, Wm. Severance, Elder Joseph Severance, Rev. E. B. Mahony, G. A. Peyton, Elder J. T. Sharrard and A. A. Warren. After several hours spent in social converse they adjourned hoping to meet him next year in the same way. The dinner was such as only our Lincoln county ladies know how to prepare.

Mr. Sharrard's poem was as follows: Dear friend and brother, Joe Ballou: We've gathered here to welcome you. On this your natal day. You've passed the three-score line, my friend, And added two more years to spend As God shall show the way.

"Just sixty-two," and looking back Along the past's dim misty track, You many changes see; You've journeyed up and down the land, And sowed good seed with generous hand.

For harvests yet to be. You've fought your country's battles well, On tented field mid bursting shell; Nor feared to face the foe: Armed with the Spirit's glittering sword, And strengthened by the living word, You've laid the foe man low.

We wish for you that coming years May bring more joy and fewer tears, As down life's hill you go: May health and wealth with you be found, And loving hearts guard you around, From every earthly foe. And may your friends who're gathered here Greet you again another year.

COURT'S FIGURES INCORRECT.

DANVILLE & HUSTONVILLE PIKE COST FIVE TIMES THE AMOUNT CLAIMED PER MILE.

To the Editor of the Interior Journal: DANVILLE, Jan. 22.—I notice in your issue of the 21st that the fiscal court gives the cost of keeping or repairing of the Danville & Hustonville turnpike in Lincoln county and makes a statement that the expenditure per mile last year was $12. I cannot see from what figures the court based its calculation on, as I alone have the books and the court did not call on me for any figures, and there is no other one from whom they could obtain the expenditures per mile. The 74 miles in Lincoln county cost from May 1, '96 to May 1st, 1897, $153.55 per mile. From May 1st, 1897, to Jan. 22, 1898, $127.13 per mile. If this statement is doubted I can show to the fiscal court my books and vouchers which will verify my statement. The statement you published is misleading to the public, and I will be obliged to you if you will make this correction. Respt., WM. WARREN, President and Treasurer.

RELIGIOUS READING.

Rev. Grider's meeting at Barbourville closed with 120 additions, among them 90 pupils of the College.

Rev. C. W. Moller, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, St. Louis, says that dancing properly conducted is an aid to religion and he joins with his members regularly in tripping the light fantastic.

"The Facts and Figures Company, of 175, Dearborn street, Chicago," which has been working preachers by getting them to subscribe to a plan to furnish them statistics on any question at the shortest notice, has been denied the use of the mails, as a fraudulent concern. All the Frankfort persons got caught from $3.50 to $5 worth.

The Confederate Association of Kentucky has set on foot a movement to establish a home for old Confederate soldiers, and a bill will be presented to the Legislature seeking State aid for the institution after it has been established and furnished by private subscriptions.

The court of appeals reversed six out of seven cases Friday, and the Louisville Times suggests either that the circuit judges are losing their grip on knowledge of the law or that the court of last resort is arbitrarily exercising its privilege of last guess.

The B. M. Creel Co., of Louisville, will not pay over 25 cts., on the $1.

HUSTONVILLE.

June Reid, who held ticket No. 38, won the handsome suit of clothes raffled off by Jerry Adams.

Leslie M. Reid is training several bang tails which will soon be added to his brother's already good string.

T. J. Robinson and C. T. Bohon are back from Atlanta where they sold two car loads of cotton mules at $90. They report a dull market.

John B. Riffe has rented a portion of T. L. Carpenter's farm and moved to it. He couldn't stand the thought of being on the Casey line and so far from our town.

The officers of the Christian church will decide next Sunday as to the call of the present pastor another year. Like the Christian church in your city all is not sweet harmony with this flock.

"Six Cups of Chocolate" will be rendered at the Christian church, Feb. 22d, under the management of that talented elocutionist, Miss Mary Holmes Lusk. Some of our prettiest girls will take part.

Besides blowing down a lot of fencing all over this section, the wind Saturday night took off the greater portion of the tin roof of Central Christian College. It will cost $100 or more to repair the damages.

Thomas Dalton, of your city, has rented John S. Goode's dwelling, formerly used as the post-office, and will move to it about Feb. 1, or sooner. He will follow his trade of jeweler and will likely be in C. W. Adams' store.

The horse Miss Victoria Bishop and little brother, Hawkins, were driving away in town the other day and the occupants were thrown out, but fortunately escaped unhurt. The buggy looked like a C. S. freight had struck it.

Madam Rumer says that a young gentleman who lives only a short distance from town on the Stanford pike will be married in less than a month to the accomplished daughter of one of the most successful millers in Lincoln county.

Ever many more sons set an efficient young bank clerk not a thousand miles from here and the prettiest kind of a little widow of our town will unite destinies. The day has not yet been set but the Presbyterian parsonage has been rented and everything else is in readiness.

Miss Margaret Bennett, who has been music teacher at Christian College for several years, will leave for her home at Chrevelle, O., this week, where she will in a few weeks wed Eld. Ellis White, of Henderson. Miss Bennett is very popular here and she carries with her the good will and best wishes of a people who love her for her many noble traits.

James B. Cook has secured a position as traveling salesman for Curry & Co., wholesale grocers, of Harrodsburg. Miss Nellie Adams has matriculated at Caldwell College, Danville. Miss Katherine Baughman is home from college at Georgetown prettier than ever. Bob Hoeker and Til Cook were up from Danville Saturday and Sunday. Cashier J. W. Hoeker is about well again.

The people of this end claim a deputy if Sheriff Owens finds that he needs another man and his legion of friends would like to see June Reid, a sterling democrat, appointed. It has been 10 years since the West End, which furnishes the democratic majorities and pays a big portion of the taxes, has been represented in that capacity and she thinks she is justly entitled to one every decade at least. Think seriously over this proposition, Mr. Sheriff. J.

NEIGHBORING COUNTY NEWS.

Squire W. E. Grubbs dresses Judge Prewitt down nicely in the last issue of the Danville Advocate for referring to the new magistrates as "greenhorns."

Mrs. Wyatt K. Pearce, formerly of Garrard, but later of Evergreen, La., died there last week. She was a sister of Mr. T. T. Pollard, one of Garrard county's best men.

Hon. W. R. Ramsey has accepted the position as lecturer on criminal law in Centre College, Danville, which was recently tendered him by the board of managers of that institution.

JAMES F. FLORENCE.

In our last issue we sought to speed the parting and now we essay to welcome the coming guest. Mr. Florence, who will take charge of the Stanford post-office in a few days, is eminently qualified for the duties, by nature and training, and we are sure will give the people a satisfactory service. He is a self-made man and has made a good job of it. Till he was 17 years old he worked on his father's farm in Nelson county, where he was born May 25, 1875, when he went on the L. & N. as a bridge carpenter. Later he got a job of running pump engines and to that capacity came to Rowland in 1870, where he ran an engine for several years, learning telegraphy the while and becoming an operator in 1879 at Rowland. He held this position till 1881, when he was made a dispatcher and in 1884 was promoted to chief, holding that office till 1890, when he retired on account of hand paralysis and went to the L. C. & L. at Cumberland Gap where he held the same position, with much lighter work. He remained there till the road was placed in the hands of a receiver and his office consolidated. Returning to Stanford he went into the mercantile business and has made a decided success of it.

In 1875, Nov. 16, he married Miss Emma Davidson, a sister of the Congressman, and they had three children, two of whom, Albert B. and George Davidson, are living and about grown. The latter will be his chief deputy and be assisted by Miss Lizzie Davidson, a sister-in-law of Mr. Florence.

Mr. Florence has made a success of every thing his hand has found to do so far in life and it is not therefore a violent assumption to say that he will keep up his record in his new position.

Mrs. Mary McCain, who is in the Lexington Asylum from Madison, imagines she is a Queen and that she will be crowned as soon as President McKinley's term expires.

A postoffice has been established at Vanhorn, Pulaski county, and S. M. Vanhorn appointed postmaster and at Weaver, Laurel county, with C. O. Casseel as postmaster.

The Pittsburg correspondent of the Kentuckian says that Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bastin celebrated the 12th anniversary of their marriage last week by setting a royal dinner to which a number of their friends were invited.

The Somerset Reporter is informed that another paper will be started in that town shortly. It will be issued weekly and be independent in politics, but it doesn't say who will edit or publish it.

The Advocate reports sale of four shares Boyle National Bank stock at $170. Luther B. Stodghill was appointed official stenographer for the Boyle court. Clay Clement in "The New Dominion" will be at the Opera House tomorrow night, 20th.

Miss Minnie Drye, the accomplished daughter of Major I. M. Drye, and the highly accomplished young postmaster at Bradfordsville, having recently become the wife of Mr. Edgar C. Lewis, has, at the request Senator William J. Deboe, been re-appointed to that position under her married name of Mrs. Minnie D. Lewis, and has qualified as such. —Lebanon Enterprise.

Mr. H. F. Hillemyer reported Thursday the rainfall for the month of January to have been 5.76 inches, more than twice the amount of rain that fell in January 1897. He further says that so much rain has not fallen since 1892, when the fall was 8.14 inches for the month. —Lexington Herald.

The battle of Mill Springs, where Gen. Zollicoffer lost his life, was fought 36 years ago on the 19. Mr. H. F. McBeath tells us that the 19th was about such a day in regard to weather as the one upon which it was fought. —Somerset Reporter.

LANCASTER.

Wanted, the address of Bernard Ashley, formerly of Garrard county.

The fiscal court adjourned until its regular April term, unless something transpires to justify a call session.

The K. O. T. M. and the K. of P. lodges have leased the Masonic Hall, over the National Bank, where they will meet in the future.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Simpson and Mr. and Mrs. Rice Benge drove to the Kentucky River. They report it at high water mark.

Our young men will give a hop at Masonic hall on Wednesday night. Saxton will furnish the music and it promises to be an enjoyable event.

Mr. R. C. Hamilton has bought of Mr. I. D. Urrant the Bland farm, containing about 90 acres, three miles from town on the new Danville road, for $1,000.

Mr. O. P. Stone has assigned to Mr. A. D. Ford for the benefit of his creditors. Assets about $2,500; liabilities about $3,500. Failure to collect outstanding debts is said to be the cause.

Mr. James Dillon has been to Harrodsburg visiting relatives. Mr. J. W. Miller went to Springfield Sunday. Capt. F. J. White, the champion constable, has been ill for several days, but he is improving. Dexter "Cyclone" Ballou, of Stanford, was over here one evening last week.

Col. W. S. Miller has returned to Knoxville, after a stay of several weeks with his many friends here, who are always glad to see him. Mr. Henry Patterson has returned from Texas improved in health and personal appearance. It must be a wonderful place and he had better go again.

A violent gale blew here during Saturday night, doing some damage to trees. It blew down several evergreens in the cemetery and several trees in town. Many people were frightened, believing that we were visited by a cyclone. It seems that we have had the regular February floods and the March winds and are approaching April weather.

Burglars visited uncle Dave Best's hotel Saturday night. They entered the kitchen through a window, broke a chest open and took some beef steak, a large cake and other edibles. The proprietor had an old-fashioned, single-barrel pistol loaded with nails and buckshot, but, as he did not hear them, he is still alive. Two men, named Miller and Marrs, from Knoxville, have been here some time and circumstances point to them as the guilty parties, as it is known that Miller wanted the pistol as a curiosity and Marrs looked larger than usual, about the waist, on Sunday morning.

Marshal Walker and Deputy Hammond are dealing consternation among the owners of cows and hogs, which are found running at large. Such animals are put in the stry pen and the officers are allowed a fee of 50 cents before they are released. Such an ordinance has existed here for years and the execution of it causes a surprise. It makes a great difference though whose cow is put in the pen. Those who make the most noise about other people's stock running at large are always ready to fight if their stock is locked up.

The spirit of anarchy which has manifested itself in tollgate raids is liable to show itself in other things and, if permitted to go unchecked, prove destructive to our free institutions by destroying the right to hold property either in an individual or a corporate capacity. If people object to paying for one thing they may object to the price of others and, under the cover of darkness, issue their diabolical decrees to regulate the price of all commodities. The notification sent to a supervisor in some part of the State threatening to punish him if he continued to raise the value of property shows too well where such a course will lead. A detective force should be employed to bring such people to justice.

Senator Farris was at home Saturday and in a talk with him he expressed the opinion that the McChord railroad bill, the bill to break the school book combine and the bill to make the proposed changes in this Congressional district will all pass, as will other bills looking to the general welfare. He also thinks that a proposed constitutional amendment changing back to the old system of voting will be submitted and that counties will be relieved from paying for guards over property. He is not a candidate for register of the land office, because he expects the office to be abolished, and because his vote will be needed in the next Legislature to help to elect a democratic U. S. Senator. As his Hanna, I find no objection to the course which he is pursuing. He spoke of Mr. North, the representative from Lincoln, as one of the ablest, most useful and most influential members in the Legislature.

Succi, who recently completed his 64th public fast in Rome, has abstained from food in his performances for 2,500 days of his life—nearly seven years.

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL

STANFORD, KY., - JAN. 25, 1898

W. P. WALTON.

THERE is nothing so self evident as the fact that our election laws need improvement and greater safe guards thrown around the ballot. We have always opposed the secret ballot, but as that can be changed only by constitutional enactment, which would require a long time to make, is hoped that the Legislature will make intelligence and the payment of a poll tax requisites to voting. The device ought to be abolished as it is premium on ignorance and some plan ought to be adopted whereby the appointment of the election officers would not devolve on partisan judges who are often influenced by special local interests. The election law in Virginia is said to work well and it with the changes that experience have demonstrated, should be considered and acted upon by the Legislature at once.

THE great and only George Mosby Davison tells a Louisville Dispatch man that it is uncertain whether he will run for Congress again as he is a victim of asthma, but if he should make the race there is only one man in the district he would fear and that is one that but few people have ever heard of, Mr. Gibson, of Spencer county. But the boss is talking through his hat. Gov. McCreary is the man he most fears and if he is nominated he will have the asthma so bad that he will flee at once to the mountains of Hepisdam and mourn with the whang doodle. We have $15 on our inside pocket which says he will never tackle Gov. McCreary.

JOE BAILEY, from his place in the House, stood up and in parliamentary terms called the Czar, whose name is Reed and who sat upon his throne, a liar. The Czar, after the Ohio fashion, said "you're another" and the question of veracity was settled in the Czar's favor by his minions, who dare not call their lives their own. It is said that there has been quite a bond of union between the Speaker and the Texan, but this incident is likely to intervene as an iceberg in their cordiality, unless they go and fight it out, and then make friends.

THEODORE JACO, the rich old fool, of 73, who paid a firm of Indianapolis lawyers, to get him a young wife, now realizes that of all fools the old fool is the biggest. They secured him an 18-year-old girl, and the marriage was celebrated in due and ancient custom a few short months ago. Now the same firm of lawyers have brought suit for divorce for the wife and alimony of $10,000. As the old man "pays the freight" no matter which way the case goes, it will be seen that the shysters are playing a dead sure game.

THE National Tribune, the organ of the pension thieves, publishes an open letter to Commissioner Evans, denying that the pension list is even tinged with fraud, much less permeated, and calls on him for certain explanations and apologies. As the paper seems to be published solely in the interest of a class, who are undeservingly feeding at the public trough, the commissioner will doubtless consider the source and treat the effusion with silent contempt.

THE name of Roland B. Gelatt now adorns the rejuvenated and reconstructed Louisville Commercial as editor and the way that paper is catching up and reaching a little ahead of the procession is a caution. It recently moved to its new quarters on Market street and with a new outfit and better mechanical appliances, its appearance is as much improved as its contents, which are newsy, varied and interesting.

ISAAC W. BECK, of Brown county, O., who is hale and hearty at 91, says he has used tobacco constantly ever since he was 15. But just consider how much older he would be had he never used the filthy stuff, said an innocent old man once when expatiating on the evils of the use of the weed and being confronted with such an example.

FORMAN leads in the vote for Senator from Maryland, but as the republicans have the votes on him, they will doubtless use them at the proper time to elect one of their party. McComas has the most of the votes now divided among several candidates and his chances seem to be the best. Ballotting will be resumed to-day.

THE editor of the Middleboro News, who has never been further from home than Artemus, hasn't heard yet that Stanford has electric lights. As he seems to revel in the bliss of ignorance on nearly all subjects, we shall not attempt the folly of trying to make him wise, even if we thought such effort was possible of accomplishment. Go to, thou ignoramus.

The democratic Congressional committee elected Senator White, of California, chairman over Senator Cockrell, of Missouri, by the close vote of 18 to 15.

IN writing up a wedding party Editor of Loving Guines, of the Elkton Progress, says the ushers wore white ties and white kid gloves. As no reference is made to any further apparel, the inference is that the gentlemen were rather sparingly clad even for the warm January weather then prevailing.

Judge Thomas H. Hines, of Frankfort, for many years a member of the Kentucky court of appeals, and captain of a company in Morgan's brigade, died Sunday. Famous in war and honored in peace he goes to his reward amid the tears and sorrow of those who knew of what splendid metal he was made.

THE ravenous appetites of the hungry horde is shown in the fact that there are 1,600 applicants on file in the 2nd district collector's office for the few places he can bestow. There is hardly a republican in the State that is not anxious to sacrifice himself on the public altar—at so much per.

Senator Hays introduced a bill to create the office of Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney for the Louisville district at a salary of $1,200, and the Legislature ought to lose no time in killing it.

Gov. Bradley's friends say that he will not make the Wiley fight a personal matter, and that if the appointment is not confirmed he will not remove W. K. Cardwell, steward of the Lexington Asylum, who is Mr. J. Morgan Chinn's father-in-law.

Mr. North's bill providing that special judges shall be paid $5 per day out of the salaries of regular judges, and also providing that in cases where the regular judges are compelled to leave the bench, as when they are sworn off, they shall receive their pay was recommended to await the adoption of the Kentucky Statutes. All the members were in favor of the bill.

Writing of Mr. North's anti-marriage of first cousins bill, the Hopkinsville Kentuckian says: If the Legislators are looking to the improvement of the next generation, why not pass a law prohibiting the marriage of all persons who can not stand a satisfactory physical examination and establish a good moral character? Better leave the whole subject as it is now, and let fathers look after the welfare of their own daughters.

The new Natural Science building of the Kentucky State College which cost $30,000, was dedicated at Lexington Friday night. The Legislature and State officials were present and the program included addresses by Prof. J. K. Patterson, Gov. Bradley, State Senator Bronston, Prof. J. M. Conlter and Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge, besides a sumptuous feast at the College. The Legislature was the guest of the city, and it as usual, did itself proud.

A dispatch from Washington says that the silver leaders have resolved to put on the drama "Curse of Gold" and show it in the West and South. Senator Stewart predicts great success for it. J. T. SUTTON, one of the big stockholders of the Hustonville & Green River Valley Telephone Co., tells us that the company is contemplating extending the line from this place to Crab Orchard in the near future.

A FORCE of 30-odd men is working on the telephone line between this place and Danville and the poles have been put up nearly half the way. In a few more days we can "hello" to the great and only "Little Britain."

A TELEGRAM received by relatives here Sunday stated that Mark, the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Thatcher, of Somerset, had died of typhoid fever and that his burial would take place there yesterday afternoon.

BURNED THE CLOTHES.—Herbert, the 4-year-old son of Mr. O. P. Huffman, struck a match in the wardrobe at home and set all the clothes afire. It was discovered in time to save the house, but wearing apparel is short at Mr. Huffman's now.

HELD.—Deputy Collector J. M. Carter tells us that Herman Kasperette, who was captured when his illicit distillery near D. K. was seized, was held by the commissioner at Mt. Vernon to the U. S. court and failing to give the $500 bail was committed to jail.

The president of the Hustonville & Stanford pike, J. F. Cash, proposed to committee yesterday that if they would guarantee the pay, he would accept the offer of $600 a mile for his road, but he was not willing to take bonds with a cloud on their validity. If payment could not be made at once he will accept the amount payable at a date in the future with six per cent. interest, but he wants an absolute guarantee that he will get his money.

FIFTY A DAY.—We were never as much surprised as when a saloon keeper here told us that his sales average between $14 and $17 a day. As there are three bar rooms in the town proper and counting that they sell as much, it will be seen that $50 a day is spent in intoxicants here. Less than half a mile from town limits are two other saloons. Suppose they sell together $25 a day, that would make $75 spent in this vicinity for that which could have as easily been done without.

R. K. WRECK.—M. F. Elkin, who saw the wreck at Burgin, tells us that No. 4, the fast train from the South, ran into an open switch about 4 o'clock Sunday morning. The engine jumped the track and plunged into a bank of dirt about 40 feet away and turned half over. The fireman jumped, but the engineer held to his throttle. Several cars were piled up pell mell and wrecked, but strange to say none of the 15 passengers was hurt. The pecuniary damages are reckoned at $25,000. The report came here Sunday that 10 persons were killed and a score or more wounded and caused much excitement and anxiety.

BOY'S WATCH FREE.—For particulars drop a postal card to The Advocate, Danville, Ky.

DR. C. FOWLER tells us that he sold the toll-house nearest Shelby City, on the Knob Lick pike, in a day or two after it was advertised, to Mr. Russell for $300. It has one-acre of land attached.

AND now comes the Somerset Paragon to compare telephone calls with us. The exchange there had 422 in a day and the editor uses up a quarter of a column to tell how the poor exchange girl is worked.

WHILE driving out the Crab Orchard pike the other night a dog scared the mare Bledsoe Bailey and Ben Wearin were driving, causing her to run. In some way one of her hind legs got caught in a wheel and she was thrown and thus stopped. It was necessary to cut the wheel and one of the shafts to extricate her and the rig was considerably used up besides. The mare is badly hurt and it will take much care and attention to get her well and sound again.

NARROW ESCAPE.—Friday afternoon a horse attached to a buggy dashed along Main Street to the imminent peril of people and vehicles, but missed them all and running into Baughman's Hivery stable would have killed Dr. Clifton Fowler, had not Joe Williams, with risk to his own life, seized the reins of the frightened animal and jerked him to the floor. The doctor was saved, but John Sneed was knocked down and hurt a little. Strange to say nothing was broken about the buggy nor was the horse in the least injured. He belongs to Little Sam Embury and started from Wallace's shop in his mad dash.

The rain fell here for the 24 hours ending Sunday morning was about 4 inches, more than fell from July 1 to Jan. 1 last. It came in torrents and did a great deal of damage in this and other parts of the State. Saturday night the wind blew fiercely for eight or 10 hours and that also did much damage. The tops of a number of chimneys around were taken off, one of the plate glass windows in Warren & Shanks' store which had been cracked, was shattered, and others, including the editor's, had window glass broken. It was a fearful night and the wonder is that more damage was not done. So far this month about 10 inches of rain have fallen, which is the heaviest precipitation for many years. Yesterday was the first clear day for a long time and as the new moon appeared Sunday, it is hoped she will change the order of things.

WHEW! Worse again and more of it. As we finish writing the above a dispatch comes that after threatening weather to-night it will rain Tuesday and be warmer. Good Lord deliver us.

Henry Brown, a Midway Ky., jeweler, advertised for a wife and a young lady at Canton, O., answered. A lively correspondence ensued, followed up later with a proposal. Tuesday they met for the first time at Winchester, where they were made one.

After Photographer Mueller, of Cincinnati, and his sweetheart, Lida Frankhouse, had taken poison to end their woes over their inability to be married, the man became so horrified at the convulsions of the girl that he ran for assistance, and both were saved.

The Mississippi river has risen 23 feet in the past 10 days, and is still crawling up. All the small tributary streams have broken their banks. Small levees are in danger and several have given away.
